

Castleton

TESTIMONIAL:

Awesome Graphics in Rutland, Vermont has been a valued partner of Castleton University for over twenty years. The collaborative nature of our work with Awesome Graphics has been a valuable asset when it comes providing strong visual representation of the Castleton brand. There has not been a task too large or too small for them to take on, and oftentimes I am able to simply articulate a need and their knowledge and creativity takes over to produce the perfect collateral. The final product is always delivered on time, on budget, and of the highest quality. While it is likely commonplace in the industry to receive high quality work and expertise, what I find most unique and refreshing is the focus on relationships and collaboration that Awesome Graphics utilizes when completing projects. There have been times when I have gone to them with one idea, and through collaboration we end up with a much better execution for less. Their focus is always on the final product, how it represents the client, and not their own bottom line. That makes them truly special.
